

The Camden Companion

November 12, 2006

"Come let us reason together says the Lord" (Isaiah 1:18)

OUR GOSPEL MEETING IN REVIEW

We had a wonderful time as our gospel meeting progressed this past week. J. R. Bronger did an outstanding job of presenting the gospel each night with lessons that were timely and uplifting. The singing was very edifying and the prayers were thoughtful and sincere. The crowds were down during the first part of the week but rebounded Thursday and Friday with over 70 in attendance both nights. Our attendance is the on spot that we could have done a little better but some times things do happen.

Here are some special thoughts about the meeting:

To all those who attended every night, I knew you would.

To those who fed J. R. and Sue (and others also), I knew you would.

To those who invited, made calls, sent invitations, I knew you would.

To those who did (or would have) kept J.R. & Sue, I knew you would.

There are so many other things to say but just know that we have a wonderful congregation of people here. But there is more that we can do. Our congregation needs building up. Souls need to be led to Christ

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

With our Gospel Meeting now concluded, what will we do now? We should have gained enthusiasm and be built up to the point that our faith is stronger and we now have to act on that faith. But will we? it is very easy to quickly sink back in to the same routine thus losing momentum.

It is more than just changing a few items of worship around or putting a new face on our building. We have to get to work. We should now be so excited as the result of our meeting that we have to tell others. Everyone can do that.

Tells others of the need for being at every service.

Tell others of the need to get their children to Bible study.

Tell young people we need them

Tell all about what the Lord has done for us.

As J. R. told us this past week, it is time to awake and get busy being all we can be for the Lord.

